Overview

Formed in 2010, JonesDBR Engineering Company, LLC is a minority-owned mechanical, electrical, and plumbing engineering firm that specializes in system designs for educational institutions, Building Commissioning, Integrated Technology and Sustainability services. JonesDBR is certified as a Historically Underutilized Business HUB, in the State of Texas.

Building commissioning is a quality assurance process that is shown to save energy costs, ensure indoor environmental quality and improve facility performance. Building commissioning can be employed on new construction as well as existing buildings to investigate problems and improve performance.
