Overview

Sensoneo offers a full array of solutions, including smart sensor technology to measure the fill levels of bins and containers in real time. This data can be used to determine when materials need to be picked up or more materials need to be replenished. Sensoneo's Smart Sensors can be used in any secure document bins, waste and recycling containers, compactors, street litter bins, compost bins, used cooking oil containers, textile donation bins, ice containers, and MORE.

The Sensoneo platform also offers asset tracking, alerting, fleet management, dynamic route planning and comprehensive analytics. In addition Sensoneo has a solution to proactively monitor storm drains, alerting the municipality of potential floods.

Sensoneo helps to cope with the biggest challenges in today's world – lack of efficiency and transparency. The Smart Sensors use ultrasound technology to measure the fill levels in bins and containers several times a day and send the data to a powerful cloud-based platform, via the Internet of Things. Sensoneo provides customers with data-driven decision making and optimization of efficiencies including cost reduction and increased profits.
