The Myers total solution is a 360° facility management program. Its goal is to reduce the overall cost of the maintenance program, while improving quality. Increasing organizational morale, safety and productivity while reducing product, equipment, and labor cost.

Bacteria Hot Spot Testing

ATP testing systems determine the cleaning efficiency and hygienic status of surfaces. The germs and bacteria are invisible but you can keep an eye on them through our new ATP meter- a System Sure Plus device that helps you detect residues and unwanted agents on the surfaces, so you can act upon and prevent the spread of breeding bacteria immediately. The ATP meter makes it possible to monitor just how clean surfaces are by detecting the level of microbial contamination on surfaces in just seconds.

UV LED Testing

UV LED Detector is designed for bed bug hunting, mold detecting, stain detecting, and body fluid locating with ultraviolet. Many times there is an odor in a room, but it may not be clear where it is coming from. UV LED Detector can help determine the location of an odor and make the cleaning job easier. Long wave UV light is required to find contaminants such as urine and mold.

IAQ Testing

The quality of indoor air inside offices, schools, and other workplaces is important not only for workers' comfort but also for their health. Poor indoor air quality (IAQ) has been tied to symptoms like headaches, fatigue, trouble concentrating, and irritation of the eyes, nose, throat and lungs. Also, some specific diseases have been linked to specific air contaminants or indoor environments, like asthma with damp indoor environments.

Regulatory Compliance

We provide regulatory compliance training that will explain the SDS form and its use along with OSHA bloodborne pathogen issues and safety. HAZCOM and Right-To-Understand training will also take place and will include training manuals and enrollment forms. Myers will conduct a safety survey to make sure you have SDS center, blood spill kit, glove dispensers, and eye wash center in place.

OSHA GHS

Right to Understand

TRAINING

The United States has officially adopted the Globally Harmonized System of Classification and Labeling of Chemicals (GHS). This new system makes sweeping changes to product classification requirements and labeling requirements for products. OSHA's adoption is actually a revision of the original Hazard Communication Standard to align with the GHS. OSHA calls this revision, HazCom 2012.

What is the Globally Harmonized System?

The Globally Harmonized System (GHS) is an international approach to hazard communication, providing agreed criteria for classification of chemical hazards, and a standardized approach to label elements and safety data sheets. The GHS was negotiated in a multi-year process by hazard communication experts from many different countries, international organizations, and stakeholder groups. It is based on major existing systems around the world, including OSHA's Hazard Communication Standard and the chemical classification and labeling systems of other US agencies.

The result of this negotiation process is the United Nations' document entitled "Globally Harmonized System of Classification and Labeling of Chemicals," commonly referred to as The Purple Book. This document provides harmonized classification criteria for health, physical, and environmental hazards of chemicals. It also includes standardized label elements that are assigned to these hazard classes and categories, and provide the appropriate signal words, pictograms, and hazard and precautionary statements to convey the hazards to users. A standardized order of information for safety data sheets is also provided. These recommendations can be used by regulatory authorities such as OSHA to establish mandatory requirements for hazard communication, but do not constitute a model regulation.
