Overview

Nightingale Security's Robotic Aerial Security (RAS) commercial system is TRL-9, has been in operation since 2016. These drones can be programmed to fly autonomous patrols, triggered to respond to a specific area based upon a signal from an alarm system or manually controlled by an operator to monitor an unfolding event. Each drone comes with its own base station where it can shelter, take off, land and re-charge itself autonomously. Our RAS system is approved by the FAA for both night flights and having multiple drones flying at the same time. Multiple sensors allow our drones to see clearly, day or night. The Blackbird is controlled by our patented software making it easy for anyone to fly safely and accomplish the mission. Our end-to-end system provides Autonomous Remote Operations so minimal human intervention is needed to maintain operational continuity 24/7. Our system is also outfitted with Artificial Intelligence (AI), enabling the entire system to learn and get smarter as drones fly more missions. All data gathered by our system is encrypted, processed and stored on site.
