Overview

Solix provides expert consulting services to school districts, libraries, departments of education, juvenile justice agencies, and health and human services agencies across the US. We specialize in applying federal program rules and regulations to our clients' programs to assist them with securing the federal funds needed for mission-critical and enabling services. Our expertise has grown from our deep program knowledge and unparalleled experience with the FCC E-rate program, Medicaid claiming, cost allocation plans, and financial management. We work with individual districts or groups of districts to review their programs and to implement best practices that will maximize their funding and cost recovery.
