Overview

The Con10gency™ mission is to provide our clients the necessary tools to be self-reliant in a time of crisis. Our experts have decades of experience in law enforcement, EMS, and fire; insight we use to tailor our offerings to meet your specific needs. We were founded by a former Marine and police officer, making us uniquely positioned to offer enhanced first aid training and equipment to first responders and military, and corporations and public institutions alike.

All Con10gency classes incorporate mental preparation, emergency action response training, and the tools needed to save a life.

No solution is complete without the tools necessary to support the lifesaving mission. That is why we partner with industry leaders to provide the best in pre-hospital medical supplies, WMD bags, active shooter response gear, and respiratory protective equipment to our customers.
