Overview

Our team has been defining and elevating the standards of technology infrastructures since 2000. Our story began during the economic recession of the 80s at the turn of the telecommunication era marked by the breakup of the Bell System, the deregulation of the telecommunication industry, and the rise of computerized networks for businesses. This epic shift in the industry created regional needs and opportunities for low-voltage cabling and infrastructure services. Since then, our friendly and experienced team has grown to continually meet the expanding needs of our customers. i.e. Smart Systems has redefined the way technology infrastructure is delivered with simple technologies and the highest levels of service to clients.
