Overview

Environment matters. How a space “feels” to us impacts the way we interact with others at school at work and in the home. Intentional room design has the ability to foster collaboration, connection, learning and creativity. Furniture is a key component to creating space. At Fomcore we believe in creating spaces that foster collaboration and creativity in both education and work environments. It is this core belief that drives us in the creation and innovation of our furniture. Located in Western Michigan, Fomcore’s parent company has been designing and manufacturing collaborative furniture since 2004. Out of a desire to continue to serve educational and commercial needs Fomcore was launched in 2016 and has quickly become a leader in both form,function, and serving our customers’ needs. Our unique single-cut foam construction not only provides a more sustainable and cost-effect solution for your space, it also assures our furniture will hold up under high use. With hundreds of color options in fabrics and vinyl, as well as other finishing options, you can be sure our furniture will fit your unique needs.From classrooms and media centers to lounge and reception areas we are committed and driven to make spaces more creative and collaborative. We would love to work with you on your project so reach out to us today and let’s get started on making your environment the kind of space that inspires.
